

Supportive Therapies for End of Life Care

Saturday 15 September 9.00 – 1.00 pm

This workshop is for all nurses and care associates involved in palliative care. We will be introducing natural substances and therapies as added strategies for the care and comfort of those suffering illness at the end of life.

Come and be part of a practical session working with colleagues to explore and experience these therapies for yourself. Leave with confidence that you can integrate them into your daily work.

Raelee Jansen is the clinical nurse educator at Te Omanga Hospice where these nursing therapies are successfully integrated into the care approach. Raelee has a Masters in Palliative Care and Certificate in Anthroposophic Nursing.

Deborah Bednarek RN MN has integrated the anthroposophic nursing therapies into primary care nursing for 15 years and has been a member of the Taruna nursing and health faculty since 2002.
